

Annex 1. Positions

Candidates must fulfill the following requirements in the moment of applying:

1.- Ref. BS2012/001

Job Title	Biostatistician
Location	Madrid, SPAIN
Job Category	Nutrition/biomedical research/Genetics
Job Description	Responsible for providing statistical support as assigned by the Scientific Director. May serve as primary biostatistician on one or more projects. Participates in the development of study protocols including participation in study design discussions. Develops statistical analysis plans including grant proposal preparations and study protocols. Performs statistical analyses, interprets statistical results, and prepares reports including integrated summaries for reports, manuscript and proposal submissions.
Qualifications	Demonstrate positive attitude, professional and excellent communication skills both written and speaking. Ability to work independently on routine assignments, under supervision on new assignments. Ability to identify and resolve areas of concerns. Work with others as necessary. Demonstrate strong organizational skills, including the ability to prioritize workload. Authorship in peer-reviewed publications (preferred). Demonstrated expertise in multiple statistical areas. Experience using statistical programming systems (SAS® required and R preferred).
Education	MS degree in Statistics or Biostatistics required. PhD. in Statistics or Biostatistics preferred.